Meeting Discloses Importance of Paper Salvage In War Effort

Friday night of last week a special salvage meeting was held at the Kentucky Utilities office, at which time the importance of saving and collecting waste paper was brought out, by Mr. LeBree, State Salvage Director of Frankfort, Ky. He said that waste paper is one of the most vitally needed materials that should be salvaged today in connection with the war effort.

Plans were discussed for the collection of waste paper in the business district of Fulton and South Fulton, each Thursday afternoon, beginning at five o'clock. A call was made for trucks, and individuals who can aid in the drive. Arrangements have been made to ship the waste paper in carload lots from Fulton after it has been collected.

Everybody is urged to co-operate in the drive, and a deposit station will be located on Lake street for the convenience of those who can bring bundles of papers and magazines from their homes.

It has been found that the public has been hard to convince of the importance of saving and turning in waste papers and cardboard. But the shortage is severe that it is being felt on the battlefronts and the home front.

City Board Passes Health Ordinance

The Fulton board of council and Mayor T. T. Boaz met Monday night. The principal business taken up at this session was the discussion and passing of a public health ordinance pertaining to the operation of local eating places. Dr. Paul Wright, county health officer, and Harry Barry, county sanitary officer, were present at the meeting, and made brief talks regarding the enactment of this ordinance.

The new ordinance provides for the grading of local food establishments, and cafes, restaurants, lunch stands must have either an A or B rating, before they will be issued a permit, it is understood. Heretofore, it was explained a C rating permitted an establishment to serve the public, and the new ordinance should help improve the pure food and sanitary features of such establishments. The Public Health Service has been endeavoring to raise the health standards of eating places for some time, and the local board of aldermen by enactment of this ordinance have gone on record as avowing grading of these establishments.

Mrs. Thomas Chapman, who has served as city clerk here for a number of years, but has been inactive recently because of failing health, has tendered her resignation. She is now in West Texas with her sister. Miss Martha Smith, who came to the clerk's office as assistant last October, has been appointed to fill out Mrs. Chapman's unexpired term.

War Bond Quota Set at $299,000 For Fulton County

Fifth War Loan Drive Officially
Opens Next Monday; Closes
July 8th

The quota to be raised by Fulton County in the Fifth War Loan drive has been set at $299,000, according to Clyde P. Williams, county chairman. This is the largest amount which has ever been set as a goal in this county, and it means that everybody is going to have to subscribe, and subscribe in larger amounts.

It is the desire of the Secretary of Treasury that $16,000,000,000 in purchase price value of War Bonds be bought during this fifth drive. Of this amount $6,000,000,000 should be purchased by individuals alone.

Fulton county has always topped its goal in previous war loan drives, but with the amount considerable larger, and fewer people to subscribe, it will demand the utmost in united effort on the part of individuals, who will have to respond to the call out of their own hearts, without waiting for someone to urge them to do so. The Allies are now engaged in the "big push," and those back home must back up the boys with their support from the home front, in production, and in lending of our money to hasten the end of the conflict.

FIRST FULTON LAMB POOL HELD TUESDAY, MAY 30

The first Fulton County Lamb Pool was held at Fulton Tuesday, May 30, according to J. H. Miller, county agent. Three hundred and twenty-two (322) lambs were received, graded and weighed. The total weight was thirty thousand and nine hundred (30,900) pounds. Two hundred and thirty-six (236) lambs graded choice of which twenty-one (21) were bucks. Choice lambs brought fifteen dollars and sixty cents ($15.60) per hundred weight. Seventy-five (75) lambs grading good brought fourteen dollars and fifty cents ($14.50). Eleven lambs grading medium brought twelve dollars and fifty cents ($12.50). The entire group of lambs brought four thousand six hundred and sixty-nine dollars and seventeen cents ($4,669.17) and were purchased by Kenneth, Murray, and Latta.

These lambs were sold by fifteen (15) farmers from the Fulton, Hickman and Carlisle counties. The next sale of the pool will be held at the Latta Stock Pens Tuesday, June 13. Lambs will be received from 7:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m. and will be sold at auction at 1:30. Farmers are asked to bring their lambs early.

FULTON ICE CO. TO REOPEN AUXILIARY PLANT HERE SOON

Repairs are being made on the ice plant located on the corner of Plain and Walnut streets and it will be reopened some time this month, according to R. H. Wade, local ice plant operator. Mr. Wade stated that it has been difficult to obtain parts for repairs, but the auxiliary plant should be in condition for operation soon. The local ice concern does considerable icing of railroad cars with perishable aboard and enroute to northern and eastern markets. In order to service these cars and meet local demands for ice, it has become necessary to reopen the auxiliary ice plant.

ALLIES INVADE FRANCE BY AIR AND BY THE SEA

Paratroopers, Naval Forces First
Hit LeHavre and Cherbourg
Areas; Germans Say Troops
Within 83 Miles of Paris

The long-awaited invasion of the continent by the Allies struck with electrifying force Tuesday morning, as paratroopers and naval troops hit LeHavre and Cherbourg areas in Normandy France. Thursday morning a German newscast stated that Allied troops were as far inland as Lisieux, which is 93 miles from Paris. These are probably paratroops.

Allies captured their first French city, the Nazi-fortified town of Bayeux, five miles inshore in the center of the Normandy invasion coast, and troops have cut the highway from Bayeux to Caen as they moved inland in generally heavy fighting against counter-attacking German reserves. A headquarters communique said the Allied landing beaches had been cleared of the enemy and some had been linked up by flank extensions during the second day of the invasion, while steady reinforcements poured in by sea and air.

Meanwhile, in Italy the Fifth Army plows on north and west of Rome toward Lake Bracciano, with a major break through the German lines. More than 20,000 prisoners had been taken Thursday by the Fifth Army alone, and the total was growing. The British Eighth Army was meeting stiff resistance.

A report originating from Turkey, without official confirmation said that Allied troops had invaded Greece, and that large fleets of ships had been seen in the Mediterranean off the coast of France. A Russian communique said that the Red Army was about ready to swing a major drive against the Germans on that front. The Germans believe that other landings will be attempted across the English channel, and seem to be undetermined whether the main blow has yet fallen along that coast.

Our troops are fighting superbly, but the Germans are tough too, according to Allied sources casualities were not as heavy as were expected at first, but doubtless will increase as the Germans throw (Continued on Page 4)

●DOWN OUR ALLEY

Why will taxes be 50 percent less? The answer to the this question is: They won't!

That might be enough to say upon the subject. But one very wise man in Washington has said in print: "Individuals will be lucky to get more than a token tax reduction."

There is almost a universal conviction, especially among older people who bore the experiences of the last war, that veterans of this war must be given a "square deal." Congress and the Administration agree to that. In dollar and cents, standing-by the veterans will cost the taxpayers perhaps 5 billions of dollars annually. The interest on the public debt will cost another 5 billions and the new military organization to maintain global security will likely cost 10 billions for the next few years. Plans are being set up for public works, and public housing on tremendous scales.

Besides, plans are being made right now for a great world bank with the United States government as the principal stockholder and banker. Billions and billions will be required.

The only people who contradict statements that taxes will be higher, do so on the theory that the United States will inherit a great world trade. That ain't so, either! It isn't so because all Europe and Asia will be poverty stricken after the war, and they will raise their own food, manufacture their own goods and furnish all possible work that they can for their own veterans and civilians. Of course they will.

The above are facts—and facts are better than theories.

Both Houses of Congress voted to extend Lend-Lease for one year from June 30, but with amendments which forbid President Roosevelt from making any postwar economic military or political commitments for Lend-Lease settlements. Even the friends of the President in the Congress have voiced disapproval over the free-handed way in which he distributes Lend-Lease. Tom Connally, Democratic chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declared that future expenditures should not be squandered on plans visionary men might think up and impractical men put into operation. That's a good idea, if anybody can make it work.

The Argentine government is as poor a neighbor to the United States as Ireland is to England, perhaps even worse, because the Irish government merely leans over backwards in neutrality while Argentina has continued to play ball on the back lot, and under cover, with the Axis.

Those Argentinians are a stubborn lot and to all appearances they are determined to set up a part of the Western Hemisphere to be run according to their orders. That can't be permitted.

Two years ago the two principal labor unions in their national conventions told the people of America that there would be no wartime strikes. Presidents Green of the American Federation of Labor and Murray of the CIO were very emphatic in making this promise, which they failed to keep. President Lewis of the United Mine Workers "reserved" the right to disagree.

Labor troubles and strikes continued until Congress resisted and passed the Smith-Connally Act in June last year. It gave statutory backing to the War Labor Board and explicit authority to the President to enable him to seize war plants threatened with strikes. The legislation was intended to promote peaceful relations between employers and workers. Nevertheless, the President vetoed the Act and Congress promptly overrode the veto.

The Department of Labor has been under the direction of Secretary Frances Perkins since 1933. Miss Perkins and a whole flock of agencies, including the National War Labor Board, have been kowtowing to the union leaders, who have continued to threaten and pull off strikes in the war industries.

General Arnold recently stopped the strikes of foremen of 13 Detroit war plants in a brief speech showing how the war effort was slowed down. What this country needs is more short talks by men like General Arnold.

The military attitude towards loosening supplies for civilian purposes has been softened a good deal, which can be accounted for under the old rules governing the supply and demand. As orders are reduced for certain war materials there are usually surpluses that are welcomed by civilians—and vice versa. Some day we'll be back on an even keel again.

The National Labor Relations Act was worked out by microscopic probers under the leadership of Senator Wagner ten years ago. It expressed the New Deal philosophy.

"The primary purposes of the National Labor Relations Board," it was stated, "to investigate issues, facts, practices and activities of employees in labor controversies" and to legalize the formation of labor organizations and encourage collective bargaining and to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice affecting commerce." The plan and the system was paved with pledges of good intentions.

While millions of workers have sought the benefits and advantages of union labor membership, it can hardly be said, in the face of strike statistics, that the compact arranged in 1935 has been successful. Obviously, union labor is ruled by mis-called "labor leaders" who are actually dictators. A few of these "leaders" exercise full authority over the most important policies of most unions. The violations of the pledges not to strike in wartime have not been upheld by the big leaders in Washington.

President Roosevelt evidently wants to tailor the American union labor system for postwar clothing, and the International Labor Organization is being lined up. It may work better abroad than in the United States, inasmuch as Europe has for centuries obeyed royal rulers and dictators.

Our own program has been definitely operated by so-called "leaders" and not by the workers; and those leaders are sustained by the Federal Administration on nearly every occasion. The partisanship of Federal boards and agencies against the employers is generally recognized. Whenever Congress has attempted to pass new legislation to fulfill the promise "to prevent any person from engaging in any unfair labor practice affecting commerce," President Roosevelt has used his powers to defeat the purpose of Congress to carry out the basic promise and pledge of the Wagner Act. The workers of the Nation should make their unions "safe for Democracy."

Into each home-tested recipe goes a dash of her sprightly personality seasoned with good sense gleaned from careful study of current marketing conditions. Cissy's articles adorn the pages of favorite recipe books and are passed on to friends.

Of good old Kentucky stock, blue-eyed Cissy grew up in Cynthiana amid scores of cousins . . . and came to us by way of the University of Kentucky wearing a Bachelor of Science degree in Home Economics and Agriculture.

Full of neighborly chattiness, she moves with hoyden grace among her array of culinary equipment . . . has always been the prima donna of her own kitchen, and says that no amount of theory can take the place of practical knowledge of short cuts in cooking routines. Women readers having a first fling at cooking, due to scarcity of domestic help, find Cissy an oracle of wisdom.

Cissy's husband, Lt. Colonel Edd Gregg, now in active service overseas, was a peace-time architect. He designed their charming hilltop house where Cissy and the dog, Pat, an Irish terrier, wait for letters and Edd's ultimate return. For never-failing interest in the problems of her readers, whose letters fill the mail pouches and keep The Courier-Journal's switchboard humming with calls, Cissy's friends think she deserves a citation.

LIVESTOCK MEN PURCHASE PRIZE BREEDING STOCK

Eighty head of choice registered beef breeding animals have been purchased by farmers of western Kentucky. The animals were selected from choice breeding herds in Iowa by a committee of livestock men composed of S. C. Bohanan, county agent, Wickliffe Ky.; Joe M. Reid, prominent Fulton, Ky., Shorthorn breeder and R. W. Shirer, agricultural agent for the Illinois Central Railroad. The project was sponsored by the new Western Kentucky Purebred livestock Association in cooperation with the Agricultural Department of the Illinois Central.

Mr. Reid, George Newton, State Line Store, Hickman and Rob B. Adams of Cayce all purchased cattle. Mr. Reid purchased four choice Shorthorn heifers; two of these animals came from the Cyril Reese herd at Knoxville, Ia. Harold Reese has shown a reserve or grand champion fat steer at the International Fat Cattle Show for the past three years; their herd is headed by a son of an imported bull owned by the famous Helfred Farms, Des Moines, Ia. The second pair of heifers purchased by Mr. Reid and the three secured by Mr. Adams are sired by a bull from the Edellyn farms, the leading Shorthorn herd in America today, owned by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago meat packer.

Mr. George Newton secured an outstanding Angus herd sire and two bred heifers. The new herd sire was bred and raised by J. C. Holbert, Ames, Ia. Mrs. Holbert is an outstanding midwest livestock judge and breeder. He maintains a fine herd of Aberdeen Angus cattle, Duroc hogs and has an exceptionally fine flock of Hampshire sheep. In addition to the herd sire, Mr. Newton also purchased two choice Angus heifers.

Several new herds were established in Ballard, Graves and McCracken Counties in addition to the animals purchased. All 80 head were secured through Turkington Bros. of Washington, Ia. In order to aid in breeding better cattle, Turkington Bros. shipped a select son of Don Blanchard 5th, the famous Hereford breeding bull to Ballard County. He is located on the Horace Ressor farm in Ballard County and is available for public service.

UNCLE JIM SAYS

Modern gardeners' slogan: "Weed 'em and reap."

There's lots of food now, there may be lots less later on.

You take your hat off to your neighbor for his good garden, but you must take off your own.

Every person able to work even a few days at farm work is urged to see his county agent and offer his services.

In the last war farm production increased only 6 per cent from 1914 to 1919. This time farm output rose 3 1-2 times as fast or 21 per cent from 1939 to 1943.

An application of 50 pounds of ammonium nitrate to the acre under fair seasonal conditions has been found to increase corn yields in the neighborhood of 7 bushels.

Moth damage to clothes and household goods is estimated at over $100,000,000 a year. Clean, air and sun before storing away, and don't be stingy with moth balls or "fumigants."

"There can be no greater disservice to the Nation, no policy more dangerous, than to permit ourselves to dwell in a fool's paradise created by our present large food supply." Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator.

A few don'ts of insect control: Don't wait until insects have ruined the plants before spraying or dusting them. Don't fail to destroy the vines and stalks of garden crops as soon as the crop is harvested. Don't fail to wash thoroughly all sprayed or dusted vegetables before eating. Don't waste insecticides. Don't hesitate to ask your county agent for advice on insect control.

Absolute and entire ugliness is rare.—Ruskin.

When all shoot at one mark, the gods join in the combat.—Emerson.

The fearful unbelief is unbelief in yourself.—Carlyle.

Have patience and endure; this unhappiness will one day be beneficial.—Ovid.

TOMATOES, CABBAGE URGED FOR FALL GARDENS

Tomatoes and cabbage in the fall put extra vim, vigor and vitamins in Victory gardens, according to horticulture and nutrition specialists at the U-T College of Agriculture.

By early June it becomes more difficult to start plants of these vegetables. Heat and dry weather combine to make seed germination much less easy than it was a month before. Heat alone is hard on young cabbage seedlings. Shade and plenty of moisture are needed to start both tomatoes and cabbage plants.

Two plans are helpful with these crops in June. One may make a small seed bed which can be kept moist and shaded until the seed has germinated and the plants are above ground. It is not necessary to have boards around such a bed but if there are boards the gardener can lay other boards on the make shade, or take music or other cloth to keep hot sun away.

Both tomatoes and cabbage can be grown from seed planted where plants are to stand. Eight or ten seeds or planted somewhat more deeply than in cool weather, and a non-baking cover like woods dirt, sandy soil, or sawdust put on above. Even these hills may be shaded until the seeds come up, by means of trips, cardboard, paper, tree twigs with leaves. When plants come up, the best one at each place is allowed to grow, the others pulled up.

Tomato plants set in hot weather need a little shade for three or four days and ample water at their roots. Many people think that setting any plants during hot sunny weather is best done late in the day, so they may have the benefit of cooler night hours to get a start.

To the old, long life and treasure; To the young, all health and pleasure.—Ben Johnson.

Tragedy has the great moral defect of giving too much importance to life and death.—Chamfort.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Did you hear that Tom is going to be inducted into the Army next week, Judge?"

"Yes, Frank told me this morning down at the barber shop. Our town's got a lot of men in the service now, Jim. In fact, all towns have. I was just reading in the paper where there are more than 10,000,000 men away from their homes in the armed forces. And, from all reports, they're doing a grand job bringing victory closer every day."

"We folks at home have a mighty big obligation to those 10,000,000 fighting men. We've got to produce the food to keep them well fed. We've got to keep them supplied with the ammunition and equipment they need to finish their job. We've got to help the Government pay for all these supplies our men need by buying more and more War Bonds. We'll have another big chance to do that by helping to put the 5th War Loan drive over the top, Jim."

"And, in addition, we must be sure that, while they're away and can't express their opinions, we don't go voting on and deciding any things that will displease them when they come back."

SOLDIER LETTERS

This letter was received by Martha Aldridge from her cousin, Sgt. Loyd Nelson, formerly of Wingo, Ky. Dear Martha I was glad to receive your letter a few days ago. It makes me no difference how you write or what you use, just so you write.

Well, I have been doing some more moving and this time in enemy territory I was in that lumber that made a landing on enemy shores. I wasn't with the first bunch that hit and all the Japs that I have seen have been prisoners. I haven't even fired one shot. I had the experience of sleeping in foxholes with bullets flying over my head. It isn't such a good feeling and when it rains, that is bad. I have a hammock to sleep in now and that is much better. I can keep dry now when it rains. I am about to forget to tell you where I am now, well, I am in New Guinea in the jungles with my hammock strung up between two trees and sitting at a table made of sticks, covered over with cardboard that came off the ration boxes. You can have a small idea how life in the jungle is. It is mountainous here, rains quite a bit and awful hot. It does get cool enough at nights for any one to sleep.

One of the prisoners that was captured said that we could have this place, but we would never get New York or San Francisco, back. Ha. They are crazy. Another one of them said that Japan didn't have a chance as we had too many planes for them. Well we knew that they didn't have a chance for a long time.

Everything is pretty quiet where I am now all but an air alert every once in awhile and they don't amount to much.

The money that I sent you is one twentieth of a pound in English money. A pound is worth around $3.22 in our money. Their pounds are notes or bills like our bills. One half pound notes, one pound, five and ten.

I am sending you some Japanese post cards that I found. They are kind of dirty and had been picked over. I didn't get any souvenirs much as they were all gone before I got them.

Tell your mother and dad hello and that we are getting closer to Tokyo every day.

Love,

they are opposed to Federal control of the medical profession and compulsory health insurance. In other words, they have shown a clear desire for expansion and improvement of the existing medical system, without any revolutionary changes.

That doctors intend to face the issue thus raised, is apparent from the following comment in the Journal of the American Medical Association: "The scope and the accuracy of this survey cannot be questioned. The results are a challenge to medical leadership. Only through enlightened medical leadership can medical service and medical science continue to evolve in the United States beyond the high point that they have now attained."

The problem facing leaders in the medical profession, the insurance industry, labor and business is primarily one of education—educating people to take full advantage of existing means of easy payment of insurance against unusual or prolonged illness. AAs the National Physicians Committee for the Extension of Medical Service points out: "This is the task of every individual—every group—every business and every industry interested in preserving for the United States the private enterprise system."

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The art of living, too, itself is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, stiffness under the eyes—feeling tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passages are sometimes farther evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Use Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Are endorsed by the country over. Insist on Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.

The 5th War Loan STARTS NEXT WEEK!

WHEREVER your invasion forces are fighting—at sea, in the air, on the ground—they're working together for victory. They know that they must depend on each other, for only by coordinated teamwork will they win through to final victory in the earliest possible time.

The Fifth War Loan starts next week. It's going to take teamwork—a lot of it—to put this drive over the top. For we've got a job to do. As the tempo of invasion rises every one of us must mobilize for support of our fighting men.

In every city, town and hamlet men and women like

City Vote and Farm Survey Show OLD FASHIONED AMERICANISM IS FAVORED

By WASHINGTON REED

MADISON is the capital city of Wisconsin, has about 70,000 population, and is the birthplace of the "progressive" movement. It is the heart of a state that has done more experimenting in government than any other commonwealth in the Union.

Recently the people of Madison became agitated about whether or not the city should own and operate the local gas and electric company. They decided to hold an election to settle the question. The ensuing campaign was considerably warmer than the weather. Hours of radio oratory and columns of newspaper publicity were devoted to the subject. When the votes were counted the score was 12,940 to 6,955 against municipal ownership.

What The Farmers Think

CROSSLEY, Incorporated, is a well-known organization which gathers information for manufacturers, radio stations, magazines, newspapers, etc. For example, the manufacturer of Such-and-such hand lotion, who is spending $2,000,000 a year on radio advertising, may hire Crossley to find out how many million people in the U.S.A. listen to the entertainment program that goes with the advertising. And Crossley gets the facts with amazing accuracy.

Last winter Crossley was engaged by the Association of National Advertisers (representing the biggest firms in the country) and thirty-six leading farm publications to learn what American farmers think of business. Two questions were submitted to a cross section of farmers, on every economic level from poor to wealthy, in all parts of the country.

For Private Enterprise

THE first question: "Which do you think would do a better job of running business—private management or the Government?"

The second: "The Government now owns many large manufacturing plants. When the war ends should it sell them to manufacturers or operate them in competition with business?" Just completed, the survey shows 78 per cent favor private management, 16 per cent favor Government, and 6 per cent have no opinion. To the second question, 81 per cent say the Government should sell the plants to manufacturers, 15 per cent favor Government operation in competition with business, and 4 per cent have no opinion.

Seems To Be Good Sign

THESE figures greatly impressed the people who paid for the survey. They have published a book covering all the details. It makes interesting reading for men and women who wonder what this country is coming to.

Boiled down to the bottom of the pan, both the survey and the Madison, Wis., municipal ownership election indicate a healthy trend away from socialism, government ownership, and control of the American people by bureaucratic management.

It is a good sign to citizens who have been disturbed these last ten years by the spectacle of federal politicians (to cite one instance), beginning with T.V.A., seeking to socialize the electric power industry.

To Safeguard Freedom

THESE politicians have spent hundreds of millions of dollars of tax money to build hydro-electric plants and transmission lines, largely to duplicate services rendered by private companies, and force such companies out of business. They have financed local communities to use power from government projects. They have left no stone unturned to establish tax-exempt government monopolies not subject to local and state regulation and taxation.

This has meant a steadily growing national tax bill, with higher and higher taxes for the average citizen. It is especially burdensome for families in ordinary circumstances—such as the wage earner in overalls, with a wife and two or three kids.

To safeguard our personal freedoms, let us all hope the trend away from government ownership becomes stronger day by day!

Today, I am offering myself to the voters of Fulton County for Congress, and if elected I will be the Representative of all the people—not to be controlled by a few bosses.

This District does not need a silent voice in Congress, but needs a Man that knows the needs of ALL the people; who has a Vision, Ability, Conviction and Courage; one who desires to become a Statesman and a politician.

I will oppose vigorously measures which I deem detrimental to Good Government. I am familiar with the history and development of American Democracy, and I have implicit faith in the principles which our Founding Fathers fought and died to establish.

I believe in Labor's right to organize and maintain the American standard of living.

I believe in Equal educational opportunities for all the people. I shall work until the Farmers have Parity.

Retonga Brings Prompt Relief To Mrs. Armstead. Had To Spend Much Time In Bed.

MRS. THELMA ARMSTEAD

One of the outstanding features of Retonga is the thousands of well known men and women who unhesitatingly come forward to endorse it in the public press. For instance, Mrs. Thelma Armstead, whose husband is a well known wholesale fruit dealer on Produce Row, Atlanta, Ga., and who resides at 65 Mill Street, N. W., gratefully declares:

"Nervous indigestion pulled me down to only 99 pounds, and I had to spend a large part of my time in bed. I could eat very little and I suffered so much from gas in my stomach that I often felt like it would cut off my breath. My nerves seemed constantly on edge, and I was compelled to resort to laxatives almost every day.

"Retonga brought me wonderful relief. Now I eat anything, my nerves have settled down and even the sluggish elimination has been relieved. I have regained twelve pounds and I feel so much stronger that it is again a pleasure to help my daughters with their school work. The relief Retonga gave me is beyond price."

Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, Vitamin B-1 deficiency, and sluggish elimination. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store adv.

... Will You LEND Dollars To Your Country
To Assure Victory And Peace?

THE sketch above was made in an Army Hospital within a day's journey of this town. The subject is a young man who fought several months in the swamps and jungles of Guadalcanal. Then a Jap grenade blew off his right hand and he came back home.

Now he faces the heart-breaking task of learning to dress and shave and feed himself and earn a living, with the aid of a wooden hand. This lad is one of scores of thousands recently mutilated or killed in defending the United States and safeguarding the American way of life for all the rest of us.

How can you, as a civilian, help win this war in which everyone has a huge stake? How can you show your appreciation to the men in the armed services?

By oversubscribing to the Fifth War Loan, which starts June 12 and ends July 8. This Loan is to provide funds to carry on the war to quick victory. The goal is $16,000,000,000, of which $6,000,000,000 will come from the sale of bonds to individuals. That includes everybody.

Of course, most people have been buying bonds since Pearl Harbor. It hasn't hurt. It hasn't meant sacrifice. It has meant only that the bond buyers have saved surplus earnings at a profit . . . $4 return for each $3 invested.

This Fifth War Loan demands extra effort . . . greater economy . . . downright stinginess with yourself . . . so you can put more dollars into bonds.

Remember the boys who gave their lives at Bougainville, on the Tarawa beaches, in the Cassino streets, in the skies over Germany. Remember those butchered at Bataan and murdered in Jap prison camps.

And remember the lads who have come back to our hospitals--crippled, blind and insane--from those grim battle places. They really sacrificed! In their name, for your country, for your children's future--buy more War Bonds!
